DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, it is unclear whether or not it is applicant's intent to positively recite the vehicle. The numerous recitations of the vehicle, including the floor, is unclear whether or not the vehicle is actually a claimed element or if it falls under the functional phrase "for use with" as recited in line 1.

Similarly, it is indefinite whether or not the wheelchair lift is part of the claimed invention as well. Although the wheelchair lift is functionally recited in the first line the claim, in line 4 the wheelchair lift is positively recited. Applicant must clarify whether or not these elements in the preamble of the claim are positively recited or functionally recited. For purposes of examination, the examiner assumes that only the subcombination of the door reciprocating assembly is being recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yamagishi et al #4,640,050. Yamagishi et al teaches a reciprocating door assembly as required by claim 1. Note, this is just one of many door reciprocating assemblies that the examiner felt unnecessary to include at this time because it is unclear which aspect of this broadly recited invention applicant is planning on reciting.
